3141 Capital Boulevard
Raleigh, NC

Several members meet at 6:00pm Buffalo Brothers

September 20th, 2011

Subject: Design with a Capital "D"

Speaker: Jay Speetjens

Don't miss the September program! Everything you always wanted to know about furniture design will be presented by one of the masters, Jay Speetjens. In this comprehensive program on furniture and cabinet design, we will see a slide show presentation of some of his work and then he'll take us through the whole process on one of the pieces shown. Points covered will be design conception, sketches and drawings, modeling or prototyping, material selection, joinery, glue-up, special considerations and finishing. As an added treat, Jay will bring along a couple of finished pieces for viewing and discussion.

Be sure to visit Jay's website, <http://www.jspeetjens.com>, to view photographs of some of his amazing work. His welcoming statement is as elegant as his work.

"Welcome to my portfolio of original furniture. The designs featured within reflect my personal values and aesthetics. Functionality, refined lines, pleasing proportions, fine craftsmanship and the use of select materials are just baseline goals. It is my desire to create works that transcend the level of mere tool. When all of the subtle elements of design and fabrication are successfully brought together, furniture engages the senses and enriches lives."

Host: Bob Gabor

THE PRESIDENTS CORNER

At our last meeting, I recognized Bill Anderson & Terry Tenhouse for their service to the club as Secretary and Program Chair, respectively. We need more people like them, who are willing to give of their time and efforts to the club.

Charles Buenzli, Jeff Leimberger, and Hugh Fish were elected to the Board for 3 year terms to begin in September. Thanks to them for being willing to serve the embetterment of our club.

Toys for Tots is beginning its season, be sure to sign up to help at a workshop. Together we can make it another good year for kids. This is our club's big humanitarian project each year. Please give a day or 1/2 day to make the project a big success. It is not much work and you get to spend time with other members - all for a good cause.

Dexter Adams our speaker for the evening explained the process & various steps in developing a custom finish using a combination of texturing, spray and hand applied finishes. During the Saturday workshop, at Hal Brown's shop (which, by the way is a great shop), students were provided three individual door panels for use in developing their own finish. A wide variety of finishes resulted, and, I believe, all came away with an expanded repertoire of skills.

September 20th will feature Jay Speetjens with a comprehensive program on furniture and cabinet design. This is a great opportunity to learn from one of the masters. We will see a slide show presentation of some of his work and then he'll take us through the whole process using one of the pieces he will show. Points covered will be: design conception, sketches & drawings, modeling or prototyping, material selection, joinery, glue-up, special considerations and finishing. As an added treat, Jay will bring along a couple of finished pieces for viewing and discussion.

Klingspor will host the third annual North Carolina Woodworking Showcase on September 17th. TWA is a sponsor again this year. The day is a fun & educational - I urge all of you to attend. There will be demonstrations, sale items, and lots of people's work to see. The event has been a success in the past years, largely due to the support of the TWA. We have helped with workers and entries, and we donate $75 for the "Woodworker's Choice award". Please enter some of your projects into competition. It is only with participation from the membership that we get to see a wide variety of items. That is the most fun -- seeing things we might like to make ourselves and of course recognition of our own work always makes us feel good.

My last item for this month is that we are asking all members to invite people they think would enjoy our club to visit and join. We aren't suggesting a hard sell, but if you know someone who might enjoy it, please invite them to a meeting. To that end, we have flyers available for you to give to your guests.

Hope to see many faces in September!

President: Allan Campbell

MEETING MINUTES

AUGUST 2011

The meeting was opened by our President, Alan Campbell. Alan welcomed visitors and encouraged them to join the club.

Announcements:

- ☉☉ Allen reminded everyone that if you don't get your dues paid by the 31 of the month you will be charged an assisted with a 5 dollar late fee.
- ☉☉ If you have not done so already there is still time to sign up for a toys for tot's workshop. Please contact Fred Ford or Mike Reddyhoff
- ☉☉ In a unanimous vote, Jeff Leimberger, Charles Buenzle, and Hugh Fish were all elected to serve a three year term on the board of directors.
- ☉☉ Get your entries ready for the Woodworkers Show Case being held at the Klingspore store on September 17th.
- ☉☉ The club has a new sponsor, Anchor Hardwoods; the store is located at 6716 Old Wake Forest Rd. in Raleigh. Just west of Capital Blvd.

Program:

The guest speaker for the night was Dexter Adams and he talked about custom furniture finishing. Dexter was sponsored by Terry Tenhouse. Dexter brought with him his rather large collection of cabinet doors and he uses them to display the custom finished he has developed. Each doors finish was more striking then the last. After displaying the door to the group Dexter would then explain the techniques and materials he used to create its custom look. He has an excellent eye for mixing and matching colors to achieve some striking effects. I am sure that anyone taking the Saturday work shop came away with a great many new ideas to use when finishing their next project.

Respectfully submitted by: Joe Gorman for Bill Anderson - secretary

Welcome & Thank you

At a recent Board Meeting I announced that the club was in need of a webmaster, someone to maintain and make any additions, deletions, or changes of any kind, etc. to the club web page. Our site creator did a wonderful job but does not have the time to continue on. It turns out that our Newsletter Editor's husband, Roger Philyaw, has the knowledge we need and has graciously agreed (arm twisting included) to be TWA's Webmaster. Roger is also a new member to the club so please say hello and welcome him.

Workbench Show & Tell

Fifteen years ago, I built a “temporary” workbench. Meanwhile, I read endlessly about workbenches looking for an affordable yet capable design and finally got inspired with the book Workbenches by Christopher Schwarz. Recently I built this bench which is derived from a plan in that book.

This bench was built primarily from 2”x12”x16’ southern yellow pine dimension lumber planed to a thickness of 1-1/4”. The vise chops and planing stop are ash. The bench dogs were appropriately turned from scavenged dogwood. Several coats of boiled linseed oil were used for the finish. The bench top is 3-1/4” thick and approximately 2’ x 5’ with legs that are 5” square. It is solid and does not wiggle a bit during use! Note that the legs, sliding deadman, and top edge are all in the same plane for clamping versatility.

The joinery is mortise and tenon with drawbored pegs. Making these test joints early was helpful.

Each leg is glued up from four 1-1/4”x5” boards. Note that each leg mortise is formed automatically by making the center two boards 2” longer than the outer two boards. The tenons for the four stretchers were formed similarly.

The laminated bench top and the end-vise chops are quite conventional. The end vise is a Record vise clone made by Anant in India. Both the end vise and leg vise have leather-lined jaw faces which greatly increases their holding power.

Some things are just too large, bulky, and/or heavy to cart to our monthly meeting to show. Thanks to Mike Payst who wanted to share his awesome bench - I am now accepting email Show and Tell. I encourage all to send me photos of your item and a detailed explanation, whatever you would like to share.

The leg vise and sliding deadman are shown here holding a walnut plank for edge jointing. Already the leg vise has become indispensable to me! The leg vise hardware is unconventional and is described below.

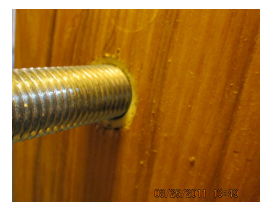

One day I was in a local Tractor Supply Store and spotted 1-8 threaded rod (that's 1” dia. and 8 threads/in.) and thought that it could be made into a decent vise screw. I also bought a 1-8 threaded rod coupler which became the 3 1/2” long vise nut epoxied into the bench leg. The business end is all made from ordinary hardware store items with a custom turned handle.

The dogwood handle is inside a 3/4” iron pipe tee. The other branch was drilled and tapped to 1-8 and the screw is solidly secured to the tee with threads, epoxy, and a spring pin. Next is a hardened thrust washer and a 3/16 mild steel plate. A 1-8 elastic stop jam nut serves as a garter to pull the chop back when opening the vise. The steel plate is secured to the chop with four 5/16 cap screws into brass threaded inserts.

Two short bushings cut from 1” Schedule 40 PVC pipe support the screw and the chop.

The adjustable planing stop also serves to hide the end grain of the bench top. Note the leather facings on the leg vise jaws.

The Anant end vise screw is 4 threads/inch thus its movable jaw moves 1/4" per turn of the handle. This leg vise moves only 1/8" per turn so twice as many turns are required for a given distance. However, the finer screw thread in the leg vise will hold most items with just a gentle snugging of the handle.

So far, this workbench is working very nicely for me and it was relatively inexpensive. The wood, leather, and hardware for this bench cost under $200. I already had the Anant end vise which would have added about another $100.

Toys for Tots

2011 Kick-off

Toys for Tots always has something interesting going on, this years kick-off was no exception with Hurricane Irene coming ashore and 3 young Marines showing up to help the day of the workshop. That did not stop diligent woodworkers though. We began with coffee & muffins provided by Sue (as well as a yummy hot lunch) and got to work, sanding and routing and assembling cars. Bruce Wrenn gave us a head start by providing cut out Volkswagen bodies. Work also began on pull toy dogs introduced to the Toys for Tots line-up by Sue & Diane several years ago. At the end of the day we had 500 completed cars and another 100 or so nearly ready for assembly and a healthy start on the dogs. With 3 more workshops scheduled, another banner year for the ladies shop is expected.

Did I mention that 3 young Marines joined us? Many of you may not be aware that Diane Philyaw's son is a Marine, currently stationed at Camp LeJune. It was thanks to young Adam and Hurricane Irene that we had the visit as the guys came to this area to keep their cars from being damaged in any winds on base.

TOYS FOR TOTS

Our kick-off workshop was held at Sue Eckard's in Creedmoor.

We were surprised and honored to have 3 young Marines to help out. The Marines do not see the creation of the toys they collect so it was an honor to educate these young men.

Thank you gentlemen for your help and your dedication to our Country!

LCPL Adam Caudill, LCPL Charles Sullins, & Cpl Andrew Jacobs

It was very enjoyable to show them all that goes into making the toys they distribute every year. Adam has been involved in the Toys for Tots effort since he was 8 years old, the others now have a greater appreciation for the work that goes into making toys.

All workshop leaders are working hard with finalizing toy designs and getting materials ready for their day of toy making.

Aside from the hosted events, we have a good number of members who put individual efforts forth and provide for the children. They also bring added value and surprise to our December give-away meeting. It always touches my heart to see the time and talent that goes into this project every year. You do not have to host a weekend workshop to add to the number of toys provided to the Marine Corps. Even if you can produce one toy -- that is one more kid that gets a smile Christmas morning

Everyone's contribution is greatly appreciated!

DVD's include over one and a half hours of instruction, with photos, printable plans, an all inclusive cut sheet, and many extra's. The books are: Fine Furniture for a Lifetime, Building Fine Furniture, and Glen Huey's Illustrated Guide to Building Period Furniture. The last book listed was actually donated by Bill Anderson and is a spiral type so that it can be laid out flat in the workshop.

A great big Thank You to both Glen and Bill!
